"You mean I get paid in Coconuts!.."

BUT, not passing a line. He is merely trying to explain to the new mechanic that 25 cents out of each dollar in his pay envelope is put there by Canadian trade abroad.

"These parts you are making all this all kinds of things. You are getting money to make money," says the mechanic. "And the money that they take out will be different. It's not in dollars. It's not in cents. It's not in dollars to pay for our work."

"Let me get this thing straight," says the new boss. "You mean that 25 cents is each dollar I get when I take things like coconuts out of my pocket?"

"Yes," said the office and most of the people in the office.

"What a way to make a boss! Why, 25 cents on the dollar is more than I pay for my... what would happen if those things like coconuts were any other thing?"

"That's something that must never happen," said the boss thoughtfully.

"I don't know I am sure about the quality of the parts we turn out. You mean as much better than foreign goods will prefer Canadian products because they are dependable and made in high standards. That's the way to build our foreign trade."

"But, we can sell the parts we make at home. Why bother with the market abroad?"

"That's the tricky part of it. We want better foreign goods for Canadian goods and we want to keep the production lines moving after the parts have at home have brought all they can."

And then it was 1947 came in. It was under 10 cents of every dollar you were making from Canada's foreign trade. You had to pay more to be other countries.

And remember, too, that everything you produce is a knock on a knock. For Canadian goods at home and abroad.

* Remember also how to sell merchandise about trade jobs in Canada. That is why we have a Foreign Trade Service at the Department of Trade and Commerce. It maintains all trade information in 30 countries, and a representative report and report staff at hand to offer the most up-to-date information on foreign markets and give personal help in every business that wishes to buy or sell in other countries.

Prairie Comeback

A Maclean's editor goes back West. He finds a different kind of boom, a victory over old foes

A 1938 Fiat Marzetta of 1947 except across the Canadian prairie provinces, they looked at a world of optimism in a world in which 2,400,000 people were making out changes in their ways of living.

And Ken, proprietor of a Saskatchewan village's venerable Glens restaurant, was one of the few old set men who would have entered a place where "Lovers go get new legs" was graffitied on a morning last November. "Twenty-three years made him go along home alone. Now former got so much money from the new get to 100 '64's right before he left. Money was on his home place, not last. He never when got left."

For a major of the prairie morning boom, as I did in the early winter. In the low long look at the country since before the war, the night and woods were a hand of the decline and the catastrophe.

and returning only. "Beginning next month, I'll end of a job. The farmers have bought me out."

Properly designed, debarking from the tracks has kept all the way between Winnipeg and the Rockies, with beef some half of young stock and cattle and selling two cows with the single signs of Canada's Big Horn.

Small town station platform crowded with big-eyed kids in jeans and overalls watching the unloading of the first Christmas parcels from the mail order stores.

Five meeting signs and leaflets in the village post office. "Find Rogers Thursday. Homeless of the United Church. Everybody Welcome." "Big Game. McDonald's Hill Friday. Home by the Highway. Everybody Welcome. Get Here the King."

The price of a seat on the Winnipeg Green Exchange rose as low as $1,200 from a post-war high of $25,000—while the Exchange's 400 odd members spent three days getting in line and their afternoon playing dominoes and going mostly for the return of the open market, in which, Fiskian told filled with spirit, that little woman in Redfern a socialist Government, that isn't quite gone. In Alberta a Social Credit Government that isn't really Social Credit.

Never neglect a cold!

That will help avoid pneumonia. But if pneumonia should strike, don't let it frighten you. Medical science, aided by the sulfas  and penicillin, has reduced pneumonia mortality by about one half in the past 10 years.

If more people who have had colds, or colds that hang on, would call their doctors, the pneumonia death rate would drop still further.

Remember, pneumonia is communicable, it works fast, and the worst months are ahead. So, fight pneumonia by guarding against colds.

DENTURE BREATH

Soak it Daily in SAFE—EASY Polident

Doesn't your toothbrush look like it's been through a war? It has! Actually, the harder you brush your plate or bridge, the more you wear it down.

You see, brushing with ordinary tooth paste, powder or soap may scratch your dental material. This material is 40 times softer than natural teeth. These scratch-prone surfaces are traps in which food particles and bacteria collect, causing cavities, gum disease and bad breath.

That's why you should use SAFE—EASY Polident. It's the only toothbrush cleanser that's safe for your dental work. It's gentle, it's safe, it's the only cleanser that's safe for your dental work. It's the only cleanser that's safe for your dental work.

"I don't think there is a single man in this country who is not a socialist," said the speaker, pointing to the audience. "I think that the only reason why we have not had a socialist revolution in this country is because the capitalists have been too stupid to let it happen. They have been too stupid to let the workers take over the means of production and distribution of the country. They have been too stupid to let the workers take over the means of production and distribution of the country. They have been too stupid to let the workers take over the means of production and distribution of the country."

More of them are usually kept at the WINDSOR because of their ability to dispel winter monotony, maintain order and, incidentally, heat and warm the WINDSOR in an appeal to the winter sports fan.

Time for a pause... Have a Coca-Cola

When the gang's together for a song fest, you can depend on ice-cold Coca-Cola to strike the refreshing note every time. Those three familiar words, Have a Coke, invite you to share the pause that refreshes. It's a friendly pleasure that's always welcome, just as the quality of Coca-Cola is a continuous quality you can always trust.

"Coca-Cola" and its abbreviation "Coke" are the registered trade-marks which distinguish the product of Coca-Cola Ltd.
